The Joseph Mercantile Co. are offering some good values this month. Read their large advertisement on the fifth page of this issue.

Mrs. J. J. Poor who had an operation performed at the Lancaster Hospital about a week ago is able to be taken to her home in the county.

Col. M. F. Elkin of Lexington will be here this Friday night and will meet with the local tent of Maccabees. All members are requested to be present.

Mr. F. L. Clark of Bryantsville sold his crop of tobacco at the Danville Tobacco Warehouse at from $5.90 to $14.75. This is the house that Mr. L. C. Hopper of this county is working for.

Road Work Continues.

The county machinery is at present engaged in remodeling the Kirksville pike they will continue on that road until severe weather forces them to cease operation for the winter. They are grading and ditching that pike and placing it in the best possible condition.

Bring Us Your Job Work.

The Record is enjoying a splendid run of job work at present. We are equipped and prepared to do as good job work as any office in the state, at as reasonable rate and with as much neatness and dispatch as it can be done in the city. Give us a trial order.

Tobacco Season.

Rain Sunday night and Monday brought tobacco "in case", and the farmers are busy engaged stripping and bulking their crops and a great many of them will get at least a part of their crops on the market in time to get some Xmas money.

A Corking Good Paper.

Editor Green Clay Walker, of the Lancaster Record, was in town Wednesday and secured orders for a number of "ads" from our merchants. Mr. Walker is getting out a splendid paper, and deserves the hearty support of the good people of the town and county he so earnestly boosts.—Danville Messenger.

Succeeding In London.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Arnold came down from London Saturday night and were warmly greeted by their many friends in Lancaster. Mr. Arnold tells us that he is succeeding admirably with his laundry and that London is a thriving place and he hopes to build up a splendid business there.

Farmers Union Establishes Store.

The Farmers Union of Garrard county will on next Monday, Dec. 18th open up their store in the room adjoining Turner & Carpenter near the depot. They will cater principally to the members of the Union, but will be glad of any custom that may come to them. The business will be under the management of Mr. W. P. Anderson a splendid citizen of the Paint Lick neighborhood, who will remove his family to Lancaster the first of the year.

The Farmers Union is assuming large proportions in the county, there being in the neighborhood of a thousand members who belong to the various Locals throughout the county, and the establishment of this store is intended to supply their wants in every line at a nominal cost.

Dealing Out Justice.

In the circuit court last week a colored man named Blythe pleaded guilty to breaking into the L. & N. depot at Paint Lick and was given the indeterminate penalty of from two to five years for his offense.

Lee Allen, another colored man, charged with assault and battery upon his wife, was fined $100. and is now assisting on the county roads. Great pity there is not a more severe punishment that might be dealt out to such criminals, for of all the despicable crimes that of wife beating is one of the worst, and the worst punishment which can be inflicted seem hardly sufficient.

Jim Brooks, colored, charged with assault and battery was also assessed to the tune of $100. and is helping Allen on county work.

Now Comes The Strange "Ita".

Next week at the Lancaster Opera House, presents a most unusual attraction. He has been fortunate in securing the much talked of Ita, the girl mentalist, who was eagerly sought by other Kentucky Mgrs. She will appear in but three theaters in this state, namely Ashland, Georgetown and Lancaster this season.

Ita is a 17 year old California girl, whose wonderful mental abilities and demonstrations have won her an enviable reputation. She has appeared in the leading theatres in the U. S., Canada, England and Mexico. Her performance is said to be highly entertaining, puzzling, weird and strange, running over an hour. Several reels of high class pictures will be run in connection with her acts and on account of the length of the performance but one show a night will be given, it starting promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Get your questions ready ask Ita she knows.

Record is requested to announce that committees of Associates Charities representing churches and fraternal order will meet for organization next Monday night, at City Council Rooms.

There arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Johnson Jr. on the night of December 1st a six pound girl. The young lady has been christened Annie Campbell.

Memorial M. Church.

Preaching on first and 3rd Sundays a. m. and p. M. Union song service next Sunday 2:30 p. m. with scripture verse voluntary from each one, everybody invited.

Logan's Sale.

Dont fail to be on hand early on Saturday morning when Mr. H. T. Logan's sale will start. We call attention to the large advertisement in this issue and the good values offered.

Circuit Court.

Things are at present moving along rapidly in circuit court and Judge Hardin is holding down the Judgeship to the satisfaction of all parties. Hon. Geo. D. Florence is here looking after the commonwealth interest. As we go to press they are in the case of Turner against National Bank. Several small criminal cases are yet to be tried.

Nearing Completion.

The new residences of Messrs Theo. Currey and L. G. Davidson on Richmond street are nearing completion and are marvels of beauty and will lend considerably to the beauty of that already pretty thoroughfare. The homes of Messrs Allie and David Sanders on Danville street are also being pushed rapidly and are in keeping with the many pretty residences which surround them. Strangers visiting Lancaster often remark upon the many pretty residences which have been erected here recently.

Shipton Estes Announces.

In this issue will be found the announcement of Mr. Shipton H. Estes as a candidate for Magistrate in the first district of Garrard county, subject to the action of the democratic party. Mr. Estes is fifty five years of age and has lived in this county since he was ten years of age and has always taken an interest in politics. He is a lifelong democrat and has never put his mark anywhere but under the Rooster. If he should be the choice of the people for this office, he will make a good one and will guard well the interest of the people. He has a great number of friends and many of them have been trying for some time to get him to announce for this important office and they claim that he is a winner.

McCreary Again Rules Kentucky.

On Tuesday at the state Capitol at Frankfort Governor James B. McCreary took the obligation which makes him for the second time Governor of Kentucky. The oath was administered by Chief Justice James P. Hosbon of the Kentucky court of appeals, after which the Governor turned and warmly shook hands with his old comrade-in arms, Gen. Simon Boliver Buckner, who is also an ex-Governor of Kentucky; Judge Hobson then administered the oath which made Edward J. McDermott of Louisville Lieutenant Governor. The ceremonies were very simple and were quick over. Mayor Polsgrove of Frankfort acted as master of Ceremonies, and after prayer by Rev. Zeigler of the Presbyterian church, he introduced the retiring Governor Augustus E. Wilson who in a farewell address of some length paid worthy tribute to his successor and bade him God speed.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather fully seven thousand people from every section of the state gathered to witness the inaugural ceremonies, and after the oath was administered, they cheered to the echo the incoming officers.

Grand Jury Adjourns.

The grand jury adjourned last week after having found 37 indictments, ten of which were for felonies, the remainder for misdemeanors. Included in the number were two for murder, one against Allen Jones for the killing of Harrison Preston below Bryantsville about two months since, Jones was a negro and made his escape on a Sunday excursion and has never been captured; the other against Les Burton for the killing of a negro named Hutchinson at White Oak on Thanksgiving night, Burton's trial has been set for to-day, Friday.

The present grand jury was one of the best that has sat in the county in some time. Foreman Chas. Poindexter kept them busy at work, and a great deal of the cussedness that has been going on in the county was investigated and some good results will follow. The names of several witnesses who failed to heed the summons of the body were handed to Judge Haydn, and he ordered that orders of arrest be issued for them to the next term of court. This will teach them that it is better to come when they are summoned, rather than to be placed under bond for their future appearance.

His Reason.

Rogers—My love, I fear you must take to bending.
Mrs. Rogers—Why?
Rogers—I have already reduced all my other expenses.—Harper's Bazar.

Special attention is called to the large advertisement of Mr. Jas. W. Smith's on the second page of this issue. Read it and you will be interested.

Garrard County Sends A Goodly Representation To The Inauguration, Despite The Inclement Weather.

Tuesday morning dawned dark and gloomy and with a mist of rain pouring but in the face of the mean prospects for the day, forty four of Garrard county's stalwart democrats boarded a special coach attached to the early morning train, headed for the inauguration of Gov. McCreary. Fully twice that number had expressed their intention of going, but were deterred by the weather. The crowd was marshalled by Chairman W. H. Brown and Representative-elect John M. Farra, and they were augmented by at least twenty five more before the county line was crossed, all bent on showing their respects to the new Governor and showing to the state that old Garrard is once more safely back in the democratic fold. Each member of the party wore a badge of pink ribbon on which was inscribed a roster and "Garrard County Democracy, 158 McCreary".

SUDDEN SUMMONS

Called From Life An Estimable Woman.

No recent death has caused such a shock to our community as did the death of Mrs. J. Speed Smith, Friday last. Her death came suddenly and without warning, it occurring at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Phelps, near Foxtown. Complaining of not feeling well, Mrs. Smith, who was alone, asked the servant to telephone for Dr. Rutledge, of the neighborhood. On arriving, the doctor found Mrs. Smith in a serious condition, death coming before he could render any medical aid. No woman of our city was better known. She was the widow of J. Speed Smith, who passed away several years ago, and who, during his life was one of the most prominent men in Richmond. He was a Mason of high standing in the State. Deceased was about 60 years of age, and a lifelong and devoted member of the Baptist church. She was beloved by a wide circle of friends who mourn her loss. She is survived by the following children; Mesdames George Phelps, of this county; and David Tevis, of Seattle Wash; Misses Margaretta and Mary Barrett Smith, of this city, and J. Speed Smith, of Seattle, Wash. She leaves two brothers: William Barrett, of Owensboro, and Mason Barrett, of Louisville, and one sister, Mrs. Lizzie Minier, of Highland, Kas. The late Hon. John Barrett, of Louisville, was a brother. She was a daughter of William F. Barrett, deceased, and a granddaughter on her mother's side of Judge William Goodloe. The funeral services were conducted Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the residence of George Phelps, by Rev. C. C. Marshall, of the Baptist church, after which her remains were brought to Richmond cemetery and laid to rest beneath a mound of flowers, token of the love and esteem in which she was held by all Mrs. W. F. Barrett and Mason Barrett of Louisville; Mrs. Lizzie Minier, of Highland, Kas., and John Craig, uncle of Mrs. Smith, of Danville, and Judge and Mrs. Benton, of Winchester, were among the attendants at the burial.—Richmond Climax.

Public Sale Of Suburban Property

By the authority of Judge L. L. Walker, executor of the will of T. B. Walker, deceased, we will sell to the highest bidder at the court house, on Monday December 25th, 1911, at 10 o'clock A. M. 205 acres of land, with a large barn, belonging to the said decedent's estate, adjoining the city of Lancaster, Kentucky, and being a highly fertile and desirable tract of land, fronting on Richmond street, near a concrete walk, with beautiful building sites, near one of the best Graded Schools in the state, convenient to market and combining the most desirable features of city and country life. Such property is in demand, land adjoining it having sold at $150. per acre.

We will first offer about one hundred and thirty five acres fronting on Richmond street; then about thirty five acres on the east of the farm, adjoining T. B. Robinson; then approximately seventy acres, with building site accessible to a road leading from Richmond pike. If desired the front on said street will be divided by a line running nearly north, dividing the land into two parts, of about eighty and one hundred and twenty five acres, which will also be offered separately. After offering the tracts mentioned, the entire boundary, of two hundred and five acres, will be offered as a whole, and the bid or bids, realizing the most money, will be accepted. This is a rare opportunity to purchase property located as this is, as no other property, adjoining the city, is for sale.

TERMS: The sale will be made for one third payable January 1st, 1912, when deed will be made and possession given. The remainder payable in one and two years with six percent interest a lien being retained on the land for payment.

Must Redeem Party Pledges.

Hon. Harry A. Sommers, editor of the Elizabethtown News is sending literature all over the state in order to build up a sentiment against the third house, and to make public sentiment demand of the counties that they carry out the promises of the democratic platform upon which the entire ticket swept the state at the last election. This county elected John M. Farra to the Legislature and can rest assured that he will endeavor to carry out the party pledges. Those progressive planks that Judge O'Rear and the republican leaders told the people that the democrats would not carry out, must be to the fullest meaning carried out so as to insure the people of the sincerity of the democrats. Had the people for an instant thought before the election that Gov. McCreary and the democratic representatives and senators would betray them and prove false to the vows, the whole ticket would have gone down to merited defeat. We must have a greater Kentucky and we must keep the grand old state in democratic line; in order to do this the people must demand that their representatives be clean and able men and men who will stand back of the promises made by their party.

One of the determinate issues of the last campaign was the county unit question. Both parties embodied it in their platform and both parties were thundering all over the state they were in earnest. The people demonstrated by their vote that they thought Gov. McCreary was earnest and he was, however he must have the support of the democratic legislature. We hear that the whiskey people are already at work using every argument they can think of to get democratic legislators to repudiate the platform upon which their party was swept into power. We do not think that the whiskey people can have much influence with our legislators, however it is well to warn them. If they find democrats who are willing to violate their pledges, it will make every true democrat in this old commonwealth hang his head in shame. We hope that there will not be a representative or senator in Frankfort but who will be for the County Unit bill. We do not see how they can keep from being for it since it is right and since the people have prayed that they want the bill passed.

If a legislator who is a democrat votes against this bill, what kind of a man could he be to ease his conscience under the burden of his betrayals. No democrat in this progressive age can go back on his promise to the public and again face them without going down in defeat. Let every true Kentuckian who is acquainted with a Kentucky legislator write to him or see him and urge them to do their full duty and carry out every promise contained in the party platform.

The War Is Over Brother.

The Washington Ind. Times reproduces an article which we ran a few weeks ago in regard to the presence of the Confederate soldiers who will attend the inauguration of Gov. McCreary who was one of their number. The editor of that sheet indulges in a lengthy editorial comment of that article in which he proceeds to take us severely to task, and indulges in considerable waving of bloody shirt. The article was not original with us, nor do we know exactly where it originated, but we endorse every word contained therein, in that it was good or we would not have produced it, nor is there one word in the article which would offend the ears of a Union soldier in Kentucky or in the entire south, or for that matter, should give offense to anyone. It is true that Hon. James B. McCreary did fight for the confederate cause, but a majority of 33,000 Kentuckians cast their ballot for him to serve as governor of Kentucky, an honor which for the second time has been conferred upon him, and most assuredly the great majority of these voters were not confederate soldiers. Down here in Kentucky the war is over, past grievances are buried and forgotten, and no man strives more earnestly to heal those wounds than that noble gentleman who now sits in the gubernatorial chair, and for whom every Kentuckian has the deepest regard and respect, as they have for every old soldier: whether he wore the blue or the gray. No newspaper in this commonwealth would even think of voicing such an article as appeared in the Times, and we think that the gentleman had small cause to criticize what plainly does not concern him.

Thousands of Kentuckians who fought for the Union are now drawing pensions, pensions many of which were secured by the assistance of those democratic members of congress from this and other southern states, who the Times unjustly accuse of opposing the pension system.

We do not wish to enter into a controversy with the gentleman from Indiana or for that matter with anyone else, on this subject, but we do wish to remind him that the same stars and stripes float over the grand old state of Kentucky as float over our neighboring state of Indiana, and they meet with as much respect here as there or any other place in the country, there are as many gallant men here ready to volunteer to resent insult to or defend them as in any state in the union, and we challenge the right of any newspaper anywhere to interfere as to the method adopted in Kentucky of inaugurating our governor, be they confederate or union soldiers.

On Sunday morning the doors of the San Quentin Cal. prison closed on the McNamara Bros., barring accident or escape, J. B. to serve the remainder of his natural life and James J. to serve fifteen years, the former, by his own confession, sentenced for the dynamiting of the plant of the San Francisco Times, in which several lives were lost, and the latter for the dynamiting of the Llewellyn Iron Works.

The confession of the McNamara Bros. of their guilt, owing to their intimate association with organized labor, is the most severe blow ever struck against labor unions in this country. The confession of J. B. McNamara that he placed the dynamite which did the deadly work, but without intent to take human life is no mitigating circumstance in his favor, for it stands to reason that the damage which would necessarily follow the explosion of this amount of nitro glycerine would, of a necessity endanger the lives of those who were employed in the building. The punishment which was meted out to him it seems to us was hardly commensurate with the crime which he committed.

The banding together of the laboring class for their own welfare, in order to maintain a proper wage scale or for such other advantages which they may seek to secure, is eminently proper, if they keep within the letter of the law, but every man, be he union man or otherwise, has the right to toil for whatsoever wage he may see proper, and it is his constitutional right to be protected. The manufacturer has the same right to protection under the law as the laboring man. But into those labor unions inevitably will creep just such men as the McNamara brothers, men who will seek to gain ends by fair means or foul, and who without even exhausting every honorable means, seek to further their ends by means of the torch, dynamite and such violent means, and just so long as such men are tolerated and such means are employed, just so long will organized labor fail of the object to which they aspire, the betterment of the laboring class. The sooner they purge their ranks of this class of members, the sooner will they become a power for good and will meet with the approbation of the public.

As the result of an hours conference with the President by Senator Bradley last Saturday, it is confidently expected that within a short time the appointments may be announced of Winston Wiseman as Collector to succeed Judge J. Sherman Cooper in Danville, James P. Spillman to succeed himself as postmaster at Harrodsburg and Coleman C. Wallace to succeed himself as postmaster at Richmond.

There is a strong probability of the passage at this session of congress of the Suloway bill, which is intended to give to the survivors of the civil war who wore the blue pensions to the amount of $30. per month, regardless of their time of service.

Garrard Wins A Prize.

The Madison County Poultry Show at Richmond closed a four days successful meeting last Saturday. About five hundred fowls were on exhibition, blue bloods from the fowl kingdom of the state, Mr. S. A. Hill was the only Garrard county man whose name appears in the list of those who succeeded in capturing prizes.

Christmas Turkeys.

Buyers are scouring the county in search of turkeys for the Christmas market and are offering eleven cents for them, a little less than what was offered before thanksgiving. From the number that they are bringing in to town it would seem that the turkey crop in the county was larger than was expected, in fact comes up to the average of the last few years.

Beware Of Fire.

Lancaster has never experienced a fire that could be traced directly to fireworks, and it is hoped that we never will, but it is well to exercise due caution in this regard. With the coming of Xmas season the small boy, and some who are not so small, will indulge in this amusement, and it is hoped that due care will be exercised not to explode any crackers, cannons or any of the like, where there is any probability of their starting a blaze which might destroy valuable property.

Big Tobacco Sales.

Reports which have not as yet been confirmed by the officers of the Burley Tobacco Society are in circulation, and coming from various sources which seem to be reliable, hear the stamp of being true, that a deal has been made with the American Tobacco Co. whereby they take in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 pounds of the 1909 crop of pooled tobacco at 16 1/2 cents per pound. If the story be true, it means the distribution among the tobacco growers of the Blue Grass of over a million and one half dollars before the coming of Christmas. Quite a nice Xmas gift isn't it?

Another Mine Horror.

This time closer home, at Briceville Tenn. last Saturday morning in the mines of the Cross Mountain Coal Co. an explosion took place entombed over 100 miners, sixteen of their dead bodies having already been recovered and the work of rescue still going on. The entire countryside is aiding in the work of rescue without sleep or food, struggling heroically to bring succor to the imprisoned men who may be alive and to recover the bodies of the dead. The work is being greatly retarded by the dreadful black damp. To a man the imprisoned and dead miners are Tennesseans and Kentuckians, not a foreigner being in the employ of the company.

Lincoln County Commissioner Appointed.

On last Saturday Judge Hardin announced the appointment of Mr. Eph Pennington to be master commissioner of the Lincoln circuit court. This puts an end to a sharp controversy which has existed in Lincoln county over this position ever since Judge Hardin's election. Messrs. Harve McRoberts and Rowan Sauley were applicants, but neither of them landed the plum, Judge Harding giving it to a dark horse. W. W. (Happy) Saunders was appointed trustee of the jury fund. Both of these appointments should meet with public approval as both of the gentlemen are splendid young democrats and are capable of filling the offices to which they have been appointed.

Roads And Rural Delivery.

The Postoffice Department is notifying the various postmasters of the country that the roads must be put in good order along rural free delivery routes. Citizens of the rural districts who appreciate the advantages of having a postoffice at their doors should be sufficiently patriotic to take an interest in the roads over which Uncle Sam's carriers must travel in the daily performance of their duty. A good road lightens immeasurably the carrier's burden and keeps him in better humor with his patrons and his job. He can deliver his mail much more promptly and most satisfactorily to all persons concerned if he has a smooth highway to travel and is not compelled to lose time and temper dodging obstructions or floundering in and out of mudholes, on the way.—Ex

HON. ROBERT H. WINN

Of Mt Sterling Succeeds Judge O'Rear As Associate Judge Of The Kentucky Court Of Appeals.

On last Saturday afternoon at a late hour in a formal note Judge Edward C. O'Rear tendered to Governor Willson his resignation as a judge of the Kentucky court of appeals. He made no recommendation as to his successor, Judge O'Rear as yet is not fully decided as to what future arrangements he will make further than that he will practice law in Frankfort.

On Monday Gov. Willson appointed Hon. Robert H. Winn of Mt. Sterling to fill the vacancy occasioned on the appellate bench by Judge O'Rear's resignation. Judge Winn is chairman of the State Central Republican Committee, and is one of the best known attorneys in the state. Judge Kirk, J. B. Blakey and Judge H. C. Faulkner were the other applicants for the position, and at least one of these gentlemen will make the race for the nomination next fall, as also will Judge Winn.

New Buggy Agency

Messrs. Herndon & Walker the clever livermen of this city have accepted the agency for the R. M. Arnold buggy made at Danville. They will take pleasure in showing the buggies to you at any time and ask that you call at their stable and inspect same. Mr. Arnold has at different times had the buggy on display here on court day but this is the first agency he has established in the county. These buggies are hand made and sold under a guaranty. Herndon & Walker will appreciate your patronage.

ADMIRAL YOUNG

Well Known In Lancaster Is Guest Of Honor At Inauguration.

The Lexington Herald of Monday contained the following complimentary notice of Rear Admiral Lucien Young, Admiral Young is well known here having frequently visited his mother, the late Mrs. Jane Young, who formerly resided here with her son Dr. F. O. Young, now of Lexington.

Rear Admiral Lucian Young, who has been in Lexington for about two weeks visiting Dr. and Mrs. F. O. Young, will go to Frankfort Monday, where he will remain for the inauguration of Governor McCreary on Tuesday. He will be one of the distinguished visitors and a guest of honor at the ceremonies.

A number of his friends in this city, who have been watching his career in the Navy with much interest, and who are proud of his extraordinary success in his chosen vocation, are planning to give a banquet in the Admiral's honor Wednesday evening.

Admiral Young has been stationed for the past two years in command of the Navy Yard at Pensacola, Fla., where he was promoted last year to the rank of Rear Admiral, next to the youngest on the active list of the Navy.

He was born in Lexington March 31, 1852, and was appointed to the Naval Academy in 1869, where he graduated in 1873. His first duty was on the U. S. steamer Alaska. After performing several acts of signal bravery he was promoted to the rank of Ensign in 1874. In 1877 in recognition of work done in the saving of lives from the wreck of the Huron, he was given the rank of Master by the United States Senate. In 1883 he was appointed a Lieutenant of the Junior Grade, sent to Panama, and remained in South America waters until 1886, at which time he was ordered to Washington and promoted to the rank of Lieutenant.

During 1890; while the Hawaiian revolution was in progress, he was engaged in the protection of American interests at Honolulu. In 1897 he was assigned to the duty of surveying the west approach to the Panama Canal, where he was taken ill and ordered home on sick leave in 1898. When the Spanish War broke out, although still on sick leave, he joined the fleet of Admiral Sampson off Santiago. For his services at the battle of Manzanillo he was awarded the highest medal by the Navy Department.

For four years following this Admiral Young was in command of the Naval Station at the Port of Havana. Until 1902, he served on the Naval Board at Washington. In 1904 he was assigned to the command of the Naval forces in Panama. He was also in the San Francisco earthquake and was commended by the Secretary of the Navy for his work during those trying times.

The Superintendent's Daughter

By ALEX. VEERHOFF

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

I was at work in Moscow distributing revolutionary documents. This is a bald statement of a very intricate work. To distribute revolutionary documents is to place oneself in most frightful jeopardy. First, the matter must be written; second, it must be printed, and, third, it must be distributed. To be caught doing any of these meant to be loaded with chains and sent on the long march to Siberia to live a horrible prison life and probably never return. But before beginning to get out matter a society must be formed for the purpose. We had an admirable secret organized circle under the direction of a single head.

My part was in distributing. I was given small packages of printed documents, which I was to leave at various places without being seen doing so. I had done considerable of this work without exciting, as I supposed, any suspicion, when one day, while carrying one of my little packages, on crossing a street I saw a man on the opposite side standing on the sidewalk looking at me intently. I went on without appearing to notice him, passed him, but refrained from going where I had intended. I knew that if he were a government officer who was on my track he would not arrest me till I had reached by destination, where he hoped to find confederates. I stopped several times to look at something by the way, in order that I might partly turn and look back without appearing to suspect being followed. In this way I satisfied myself that the man I had noticed was shadowing me.

The problem that confronted me was how to get rid of the package I carried. I dared not drop it, for my shadower would secure it and it would surely convict me. And yet if arrested with it on me I would meet a like fate.

How quickly one's mind will work on the eve of a great trouble which may possibly be averted! One thing took possession of my mind immediately—I must enter an inclosure where I could remain long enough out of sight of my follower to get rid of my package. Members of our circle were well instructed in the location of police offices and in the residences of the officials. I determined to play a bold game. I would go to the superintendent of police, give him the package and tell him I had found it on the street. This was certainly a desperate game to play as well as a bold one. But there was a chance in it for me.

I went to the superintendent's house instead of his office, rang the door bell, and the door was opened by a servant. I asked if the superintendent—Alexis Sherloff held the office at the time—was in. The servant was a stupid creature and knew nothing about her master, but a young lady came down the stairs and told me that the superintendent was at his office.

"I am sorry to hear that," I said. "I have something to turn over to him, something that it is dangerous for me to keep in my possession."

The young lady looked interested. "In passing through an alley," I continued, "I noticed a package neatly wrapped and tied. I picked it up and on opening it found that it contained revolutionary documents. I realized at once the danger into which I had fallen. Possibly some one was watching me. I was tempted to drop it, but even in this there was danger. Then I resolved that I would do what it was my duty to do—turn it over to the government. I have brought it to the superintendent."

"Father will be at home in about an hour," she said. "You might wait for him or you can go to his office."

"I would not dare to go to his office for fear of being arrested before reaching it."

"Then you had better wait," I noticed that the young lady was suppressing emotion. She showed me into a waiting room and left me, but soon returned, her manner changed.

"If these documents are found here," she said, "they may implicate me, and you will be under suspicion. Better destroy them. Give them to me."

She hurriedly snatched the package from me and disappeared. In a few minutes she returned and showed me to the door. There across the street stood the man who had followed me. I walked boldly past him and saw on his face a very bewildered expression.

I concluded that there was no use trying to shake him off and that I might as well go home. I did so, and the man followed me, for, looking out between the window blinds, I saw him loitering on the opposite side of the street. I wished to report my adventure to the head of my circle, but dared not attempt to do so. I had not been at home an hour before a lady called at the house and asked for me. As soon as she saw me she said:

"Your adventure this afternoon has been reported to the director of the circle. Tonight at 11 go out and walk westward on the street. A carriage will draw up at the sidewalk and take you in. You will go to America."

She handed me a package of bank bills and left me. I did as directed, was taken into the carriage, run off beyond the border and here in America. I was sent away, being suspected, and that I might not implicate others.

The superintendent's daughter was a member of a revolutionary circle.

Ends Winter's Troubles.

To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost-bitten toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold-sores, red and rough skins, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of Burns, Boils, Piles, Cuts, Sores, Bruises, Eczema and Sprains. Only 25c at R. E. McRoberts & Son.

MADE THEM HOP.

A Story They Tell in Washington About Senator Jeff Davis.

Senator Jeff Davis and a valued constituent were in the senate gallery one day during the recent session. The constituent was visiting Washington for the first time. It was a dull moment in the senate, and not one-tenth of the seats were occupied.

"It looks dead down there, Jeff," said the Arkansas visitor, viewing the vacant chairs.

"You keep your seat and I'll stir them up," said Senator Davis, rising. Two minutes later Mr. Davis was addressing the vice president.

"I suggest that there is no quorum," said the senator quietly, so that his friend from home did not hear.

Immediately the bells began to ring, the clerk to call the roll and senators to swarm in from the cloakrooms, the corridors and their rooms. The room filled, Mr. Davis answered his name and returned to the side of his constituent.

"See them come?" asked the senator. "All that I have to do to make them hop is to appear on the floor."—Washington Cor. New York World.

Logical Conclusion.

An amusing incident happened some time ago in one of the Paris courts of justice. A vain, haughty woman was called as a witness, when the magistrate inquired her age.

"Twenty-five last August," promptly replied the lady.

The next witness was a young man, who at once acknowledged that he was twenty-seven years of age.

"As you related to the last witness?" queried the magistrate.

"Yes, I'm her son," he replied.

"Ah," mused the magistrate. "Your mother must have married very young."

Not Such a Crazy Answer.

Two lunatics conversed in the asylum yard. One had megalomania. Said he, "Had they not locked me up here I should have been a second Napoleon!"

Thoughtfully the other contemplated a pea green devil on the asylum wall, then remarked, "The second Napoleon wasn't much shucks."—Everybody's.

Waiting For More Ammunition.

Margaret, the five-year-old daughter of a very dignified lady, was very impudent the other day, and her mother shut her up in a closet. After a few minutes of silence she went to the door.

"Margaret," she said, "are you ready to be good and come out?"

"No, I am not ready yet," Margaret responded.

"Why not?"

"I 'pit on your coat, and I 'pit on your dress, and now I'm waitin' for more 'pit to 'pit on your hat."—Kansas City Star.

Kipling's Queer Behavior.

At a tea the other day a woman heard the following remarks made about her favorite author. She turned to listen, amazed by the eccentricities of conduct narrated.

"Yes, you know," the hostess was saying. "Kipling came in and behaved so strangely! At luncheon he suddenly sprang up and wouldn't let the waitress come near the table. Every time that she tried to come near, he would jump at her. He made a dive for the cake that was on the lower shelf of the sideboard and took it into the parlor to eat it. He got the crumbs all over the sofa and the beautiful rug. When he had finished his cake he simply sat and glared at us."

The visitor finally could not control herself and asked, "Excuse me, but are you speaking of Mr. Rudyard Kipling?"

"Mr. Rudyard Kipling?" echoed the hostess. "Oh, no! Kipling is our dog."

Time to Leave.

A Philadelphia clergyman, who is something of a yag, tells this story on a brother minister with whom he recently attended a convention in Washington:

"The conductor on a street car on which we were riding one day was most apparently of English birth. We had hardly seated ourselves when I was attracted by his pronunciation."

"Hatch street!" he called shortly after we were seated.

"Hi!" was the next call. Then followed "J" and "K." At this juncture my companion got up.

"I'm going to get off here," he said. "I can't stay to hear the next."—Philadelphia Times.

DEATHS.

Mrs. R. E. Gaines.
Mrs. Lucy Gaines, wife of Mr. R. E. Gaines of Lincoln county died at her home near Walnut Flat last Thursday after a long illness. Mrs. Gaines was a splendid christian woman, a consistent member of the Presbyterian church. She was about forty years of age and is survived by her husband, who is a brother of Mr. Ed. C. Gaines of this place and one daughter fourteen years of age.

Naylor.
Mr. J. P. Naylor died at his home on Sugar Creek in this county on Sunday and his remains were placed at rest in the Lancaster cemetery on Monday afternoon. Mr. Naylor was sixty four years of age and had long been a sufferer of complication of diseases. He married daughter of the late John Lackey, who survives him, together with five daughters and two sons, all of whom are grown, the majority of them residing in the state of Indiana. There was never a more highly respected citizen lived in Garrard county than Perry Naylor, by honesty, upright and square dealing he won the esteem and respect of everyone, and a host of friends all over the county will mourn his loss.

A Letter To Dakota Jack.
Bee Lick Ky. Nov. 11, 1911.
Mr. J. J. Pursley (Dakota Jack) Lancaster, Ky., Dear Sir—For the benefit of people suffering with Stomach trouble and Rheumatism. Please have the following letter published. As I sure know the tortures of stomach trouble and Rheumatism myself. If I can be of any help to others I will be only too glad to do so. I have been troubled with Stomach troubles and Rheumatism for a number of years and no one knows the tortures until they have them. I tried all the remedies I could hear of and physicians treated me all to no avail. As a person naturally will I had lost all confidence in medicine. A friend told me a man in Lancaster cured him and would cure me. He says his name is Dakota Jack. I wrote him and he sent me a 45 days treatment of Pursley's Indian Herbs. I taken them according to directions and saw they done me good. I taken two treatments and they cured me and will cure you. I have tried many other remedies and all proved failures. As a friend to sufferers of stomach troubles and Rheumatism try Pursley's Indian Herbs. (Signed) M. H. Barnes.
Pursley's Indian Herbs are for sale in Garrard Co by the following people: J. J. Pursley Lancaster, Ky., J. E. Stormes (Druggist) Lancaster, Ky., and by Henry Kuhlman & Son, Lowell Ky, Pursley's Indian Herbs a 45 days treatment for $1.00 at any of the above places.

Former Lancaster Girl Weds.

The following from the Muscogee (Okla.) News gives an account of the recent marriage in that city of Miss Julia Mae Gaines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Gaines, who formerly resided here. The fair bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Gaines and a niece of Mr. Ed. C. Gaines of this city, and was during their residence here a popular member of Lancaster society:—

"The beautiful home wedding of Miss Julia Mae Gaines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Gaines, of 1210 West Okmulgee avenue, to Mr. Harry E. Benson, of Oklahoma City, took place last evening in the presence of a large party of friends and relatives, Rev. Hamlett, of the First Baptist Church officiating. The house was decorated with southern smilax, ferns and beautiful yellow and white chrysanthemums, yellow and white being the chosen colors of the bride prevailed throughout the house. The chandeliers were draped with smilax and the lights were covered with shades of yellow chrysanthemums, while the mantels were banked with ferns and chrysanthemums. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. W. P. Z. German sang, "For Us, and the bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. T. T. Gaddy. Miss Nannie Gaines, the maid of honor, in a gown of yellow satin with chiffon overdress and carrying an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, entered first. Then the little flower girl, Olivia Boone in a dainty white frock with yellow sash and hair ribbons, strewn the petals of yellow chrysanthemums from her pretty flower basket entered, followed by the bride, charming in a white satin gown entrain, with beautiful-trimming of rare lace and pearl fringe wearing a long tulle veil caught to her hair with a spray of valley lilies. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies. The ceremony was performed in the parlor beneath a beautiful arch of smilax and chrysanthemums, Mr. Benson, the groom was attended by Mr. R. Jeff Yeager, and the ushers were Mr. Herbert Towner and Mr. Walter Towner. Mrs. Benson is a charming girl and her many friends will miss her from Meskogue society. Mr. Benson is a prominent business man of Oklahoma City."

In Memoriam

Inscribed to the memory of Charles Adams by his sister Mrs. Breathitt Brown.

Dearest Brother thou has left us, And our hearts are filled with pain, Tho' we know our great bereavement Means for thee eternal gain.

Thou hast left us and we sorrow For a void that's never filled For the joy of thy dear presence And a voice forever stilled.

Thou hast left thy bright home circle Loved ones miss and mourn thee there. Broken hearted wife and children Weep beside thy vacant chair.

Thou art gone, thy place is vacant And we ne'er shall see thee more. Till we meet in glad reunion On that bright celestial shore.

WATCH FOR

THE FLYING MERCURY

A romance of motor racing that will thrill you like the sight of whirling cars. A modern story with a modern setting that we can truthfully say moves with a rapidity sufficient to satisfy any reader. A delightful serial about to appear in these columns.

Don't Miss the Opening Installment

BUENA VISTA

Joe Skinner is at home from North Middletown.

Clarence Lane and wife of Louisville are her with Mrs. Lane's mother.

Mrs. Jesse Stultz and little daughter and grandson of Nicholasville have been the guests of Mrs. Ed. Eason.

Mr. Ed Eason has purchased A. T. Scott's stock of goods and will soon add them to his already large stock of good.

Mrs. Ruble was a woman of very gentle kind disposition a loving neighbor and devoted mother. She was for years a consistent member of the Methodist church, and fully prepared for the Heavenly calling.

Mrs. W. P. Ruble died of pneumonia Monday morning at the home of her daughters Mrs. Joe Hamilton. She had been ill but a few days. She is survived by a husband and three children. Funeral at Mt. Olive conducted by the pastor. Interment in adjoining burial ground.

Messrs. Bogart and Herrington, who for some time have been prospecting for a site on Dix river to erect a concrete dam and electric plant, were here last week the guest of C. P. Kennedy. For about a year a gaggle of the water has been kept by Mr. Kennedy. After another examination of the river it has been decided to locate the dam near Kennedy's Mill.

Women!

If weak, you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from gentle herbs, acts in a natural manner, and has no bad results, as some of the strong drugs sometimes used. As a medicine—a tonic—for weak, tired, worn-out women, Cardui has been a popular success for over 50 years.

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Lula Walden, of Gramlin, S. C., followed this advice. Read her letter: "I was so weak, when I first began to take Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Now, I can do all the general housework, for a family of 9." Try Cardui for your troubles. It may be the very remedy you need.

THE SAUCY YOUNG BRUTE

Prospective Mother-in-Law Didn't Want to Lose Her Daughter, but Why the Delay?

Mrs. DeGross drew a deep sigh when her daughter told her that she had become engaged to Mr. Bobles. "I suppose it's foolish of me to feel so bad about it," she said, wiping her eyes, "but I can't help it. I know it's a woman's destiny to be married, dear, and I have always hoped that you would marry and be happy. But a mother can never lose a daughter without feeling deeply on the subject. She can never help regarding it as an awful loss—a tragedy. She cannot give up her little girl, even to the best man that ever lived, without the deepest reluctance."

"But, mother, dear—I shall come and see you often. And you mustn't cry as if I were going to happen right away. You will have time to get used to it."

"Will it? How soon are you to be married?"

"Not for nearly a year. Bob thinks 'bat'—"

"Not for a year? What on earth does he mean by putting it off that long? I don't believe he intends to marry you at all, the smirking young snip! If he did, he'd insist on having the wedding before September. And I shall tell him so. You bring him to time, Clara. You tell him that he'll either marry you next month or never! I'll show him!"
